Mexico's Great Day
King George's 21st Year
Now the Day is Over
Mr. Mellon Speaks

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

WESTERDAY, May 5, Cinco de Mayo, good Mexicans celebrated the day that freed their country from European control.

The Mexicans (no nation is more patriotic) lifted their glasses to the memory of the great defeat, establishing the fact that Mexico is for Mexicans.

May 5 should make real Americans thoughtful, now that the Americans seem eager to disregard Washington's teachings and join the European league of nations or world court for instruction to the management of the States.

Mexicans will never make that mistake.

WHILE THE MEXICANS were celebrating their important holiday, King George of England was celebrating the end of his twenty-first year. Only 17 English kings and queens have remained longer than 21 years on the throne. King George has now equaled the term of William the Conqueror. His has been a different term. The Conqueror ruled. He suppressed many small kingdoms to make a big one, wiped out villages and farms to create vast deer parks.

Long after his death, as late as the time of Henry II, an English workman moving from one parish to another in search of a job, without permission, was branded on his flesh with a red-hot iron.

King George has lived to see a workman, formerly in the coal mines, prime minister of England, and writing the speeches that the king delivers. The address from the throne.

We may see changes as great here as we may even see the citizens themselves running the country, something we haven't seen yet.

GEORGE F. BAKER, one of the most powerful workers in American business and finance, was married yesterday. "Abide with Me" was sung and "Now the Day is Over."

Men of power in the world that interested Mr. Baker were then Senator Dwight W. Morrow, just back from Sicily; Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City bank; Charles M. Schwab, Chief Justice; Charles M. Evans Hughes. There were also railroad presidents and their conversation about business after the funeral was none too cheerful.

SOME THAT were too optimistic at the beginning of our slump are now taking it too solemnly. As though the doctor had said: "You have an inoperable cancer." We have, at the worst, a case of financial measles.

Mr. B. Forman of Rochester, N. Y., who deals directly and successfully with the people in business, says: "We must take things as they come, working the harder when they don't come exactly as we want them. The man who is always a little hungry is healthier than the man who is never hungry. We have been stuffed with prosperity, having too much. Thinking and hard work will do us good."

SECRETARY MELLON, whose specialty is not talking, yesterday talked about business, for the first time since October, 1929, at a luncheon given to foreign bankers by American bankers.

You should read his speech in this morning's newspapers:

"We can't be cured by any quick and easy methods, or at anybody else's expense, and we ought to realize it."

SPEAKERS URGE CIVIC PRIDE, BOOSTER TALK

Marion Workers Discuss City's Problems at Sixth Meeting at Sawyer's.

134 HEAR DISCUSSION

Session Boosts Total Attendance to 1,121; Questionnaires Number 841.

All Marion needs to make it a better city is a stimulus to civic pride and a general contagion of booster talk, 134 workers of Marion heard speakers declare at the sixth of a series of civic welfare meetings at Sawyer sanitarium last night.

Plea for a more optimistic brand of talk about Marion and less knocking was made by several speakers called upon by Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, chairman of the welfare movement which is sponsored by a group of 32 citizens.

Likens City to Family

In one of the briefest and best received talks given, Miss Myrtle Harris, assistant chief of staff of the Sawyer sanitarium, likened Marion to a large family in whose home cleanliness, system, order and physical beauty are needed.

"We need an authoritative head," Miss Harris said, "or officials and leaders who command the respect of the other members of the family, who keep peace in the home and set standards that other members should follow. We need mothering by the schools and churches to instill in us love, unselfishness, courage, faith, culture and all the better things in life."

"We need harmonious cooperation among all the members of the large family in performing the many and varied duties of our home to bring to it success and growth of our family's interests. If we can obtain these, prosperity, contentment and happiness surely will exist and abide in our home, Marion."

In the first talk heard last night, F. L. Bradley of the J. C. Penney Co. said one hears too many unkind remarks about Marion. He pointed to the need of "decent living wages" and said Marion needs civic leaders who have the support and ideas of the citizenship.

Urges Golden Rule

B. K. Hill of the McDaniel Motor Co. urged practice of the golden rule in Marion for civic betterment. "If there are civic diseases, they are a matter for the citizenship to cure," he said. "When talking about Marion, don't tear down the city, build it up," he urged.

Speaking of the newspaper and its relation to Marion, R. F. Fletcher, business manager of The Star, declared "A good newspaper is a reflection of the actions of the public. If the reflection cast by the newspaper is not good, it is

IT'S GRUDGE, MAYOR SAYS, BUT PAYS FINE

Cardington Official Blames Arrest of Marengo Marshal for Appearance in Justice's Court.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, May 6.—The score between officials of two Morrow county villages was tied yesterday when Justice E. J. Harris of Marengo fined Mayor Frank Aliga of Cardington $10 and costs.

Mayor Aliga pleaded guilty to charges filed by Mrs. Stella Chase of Marengo. She charged him with intoxication, disorderly conduct and use of profane language. During the county basketball tournament at Cardington last month, Mayor Aliga fined four persons $3 for violations of traffic ordinances. Among the persons donating to the Cardington treasury was Deputy Marshal Mead Porter of Marengo. He was charged with parking on the wrong side of the street.

Porter and another deputy arrested Aliga at Cardington and brought him to the justice's court where he paid the fine and was released.

Aliga today said he considered the fine a part of a "grudge" which the Marengo officials held against him.

He denied that he was intoxicated but admitted he may have been a little rough in his talk at the Chase home. He said he was connected with a loan company and was attempting to straighten out a matter of payment of interest on a loan.

"There's nothing to this grudge idea," Porter told a reporter this morning. "I had nothing to do with drawing up the affidavit and was merely called in to serve the warrant for the mayor's arrest," he said. He admitted, however, that he did get a "kick" out of arresting Aliga.

Just to show that there was no hard feelings, the mayor bought a dollar's worth of cigars and passed them around among attendees of the justice's court.

In the meantime, residents of the two villages are awaiting the next round in the feud.

WAGE QUESTION DISCUSSED BY WORLD C. OF C.

Value of High Pay Depends on Living Cost, European Leader Says.

SEES NEED OF BALANCE

Declares U. S. System of Wages Not Suitable in Other Countries.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Wages and their relation to economic balance were discussed at today's meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce by Aloysius Meyer of Luxembourg, president of the European Steel Cartel.

He drew a distinction between nominal wages, or the amount of money paid, and "real wages," representing the amount of goods that can be bought with the pay. He said European conditions differed from those here and that introduction of the American system of high nominal wages in those countries would be dangerous.

"The general tendency may be directed toward high real wages," said Meyer. "It is of little consequence to a wage earner if his income be decreased or increased, provided the cost of living increases or decreases in the same proportions."

Theory Outweighed

Economic factors, he said, are stronger than theory and "impose the measure which must not be exceeded without endangering the general economic balance of a country."

Meyer agreed with the report of Gino Olivetti, Italian delegate, that the limit of high wages has been exceeded in the United States and that this "explains the attempt on the part of industrial interests to obtain an increase in customs duties."

Citing the case of England and Germany since the war, Meyer said the policy of high wages in those countries, although in mitigation compared with those in America had not given satisfactory economic results.

"Without pretending that their depression is the exclusive result of high wages," he said, "nevertheless it cannot be denied that they have been important contributing factors."

"The other European countries cannot practice the policy of high wages."

He blamed part of Great Britain's troubles on the fact that while she has free trade the cost of living and wages are high, and added:

Gives Views on Employment

Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company, told the International Chamber today that the responsibility for regularization of employment rests on industry.

"The more completely regularization of employment is effected," he said, "the less necessary is it for unemployment insurance, either on the part of industry or charitable and relief measures on the part of the community."

"Therefore, the more complete regularization of employment is, the less in fact is the necessity of providing for unemployment. In both instances, the cooperation and responsibility of the employee should be enlisted so that the solution for the industry may be joint as between management and employee."

Swope said the first problem in planning steady employment was to avoid seasonal and occasional variations and, in industries where these measures are seemingly impossible, to "ameliorate the hardships of unemployment when they arise."

The speaker said the problem of regularizing employment "must be studied for each trade or industry, and, in fact, in every company with its different methods of management and operation."

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., May 6.—For the first time in history here, the three judges of Cuyahoga county's court of appeals today possessed black silk robes to wear on the bench as a gift of the Toronto Bar association.

The robes were presented by Justice John Fosbury Orde of the Ontario appellate court last night as symbols of the majesty of the law and tokens of international friendship.

The presentation closed a banquet in celebration of "Toronto-Cleveland Lawyers' day" and was made in the presence of Cleveland Bar association members and 60 leading Canadian lawyers.

NEW VALUES TO BE SET BY THOMAS AIDS

Auditor Lines Up Assistants To Readjust Tax Figures on All Property.

ENTIRE COUNTY INVOLVED

Job To Be Performed in Accordance with Law Requiring Adjustment.

Preparations for the stupendous task of reappraising all real estate in Marion county are rapidly nearing completion in the office of County Auditor Earl E. Thomas, he announced today.

Thirty appraisers in 15 townships will begin work May 18 after being given instructions as to their duties by Auditor Thomas, who has called them to a meeting in the courtroom of the courthouse May 9.

To Cover County

The task will be finished when all real estate in the county, city and villages has been reappraised. The task is a part of a statewide appraisal made every six years. Valuations made during this reappraisal will be used for tax-making purposes until 1937 when another is due, according to the auditor.

Undoubtedly, the present valuation of real estate in the county, city and villages, of approximately $85,000,000, will shrink during the reappraisal, Thomas believes, although he will not hazard an estimate as to the extent. Any radical reduction in land valuation will cripple the financing of county, city and village governments, he said.

The same system of reappraisal of real estate and buildings inaugurated at the last reappraisal six years ago will be followed this year, the auditor said. The new system provides for the valuation of buildings according to their cubic measurements and size, and also divides buildings into several classifications.

Measurements on File

Measurements of all buildings in the county six years ago are on file in the auditor's office and will be furnished the appraisers to guide them in fixing valuations this year. Depreciation during the six-year period, additions to the buildings and other factors will affect the appraisal figure.

Valuation of land is almost entirely a matter of judgment, Auditor Thomas said. Although two appraisers are assigned to a township, the appraisers in adjoining townships often confer to determine the relative values of farm property.

Plans for the task in the city and villages have not been completed. Appraisers for the villages will be named shortly, and after that Marion city will be started.

List of Appraisers

Marion county townships and their appraisers within three or four weeks after it is begun follow:

"Big Island township, J. W. Smith and Frank Oesterle; Bowling Green township, Benton Denman and Everett Harris; Claridon township, E. L. Gray and J. W. Fields; Grand township, J. H. Roetzman and Edward Myles; Grand Prairie township, J. K. Leeper and B. T. Thew; Green Camp township, W. E. Weston and Sherman Imbody; Marion township, George Bird and Sanford Beckel; Montgomery township, M. A. Virden and Wayne Hoagland; Pleasant township, Homer Myers and Henry Garrett; Prospect township, F. E. Moyer and W. H. Davis; Richland township, Omar Klinefelter and Jacob Gompf; Salt Rock township, Henry Foss and Frank Morral; Scott township, L. E. Two Air Mail Pilots Killed

Bodies Found in Wreckage of Plane on California Mountainside.

CRASH OCCURS IN FOG

By The Associated Press

BURBANK, Calif., May 6.—Art Starbuck and Charles R. Parmlee, pilots of a Pacific Air Transport mail plane were found dead in the wreckage of their plane on a mountainside eight miles north of here today.

Flying the northbound night air mail from San Diego, the airmen met death in a heavy fog that shrouded this vicinity.

Officials of the Pacific Air Transport company here said they were in touch with the ship by radio shortly before it crashed.

The plane was flying at about 2,500 feet, they said, and the pilots did not report they were unable to find the landing field although there was a dense fog.

Parmelee was a flier for the Pan American Airways for four years. Both pilots were married and each had one child. Starbuck lived in Los Angeles, Parmelee in Oakland.

Unable to Locate Field

The plane left San Diego at 10:15 o'clock last night for Los Angeles. Shortly before midnight officials at the company's airport heard the drone of one engine as the plane circled Burbank apparently in a vain effort to locate the landing field.

Because of the fog, scouting planes could not take off to lead the lost ship to its base.

At dawn two planes took the air. The fog had lifted somewhat and shortly afterward the mail plane was sighted on the mountainside. Both pilots were found strapped in their seats. The ship did not catch fire.

SNIPER'S GIRL VICTIM DIES IN CLEVELAND

Bullet Wounds Fatal to 17-Year-Old Victim; Motive Is Mystery.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., May 6.—Louise Gaudig, 17, of Johnstown, Pa., who was shot down as she was walking home with a girl companion here late Monday night, died early today.

Miss Gaudig had been unconscious since the shooting and did not recognize her mother, who came from Johnstown yesterday. She was shot in the head by a man who drove past in an automobile as she and Miss Olive Desmond, a cousin, were returning to the Desmond home after purchasing food. The gunman fired without warning. Miss Desmond said. A delicate brain operation and a blood transfusion failed to save the girl's life.

Another girl, Miss Geraldine E. Marko, was shot in a similar fashion the same night, but was not seriously hurt. A week ago Mrs. Nina Palagay, 36, was shot by a passing motorist.

Police, at a loss for a motive for the shootings, today held a man they said was demented. He was arrested not far from the place where Miss Gaudig was shot. His landlady said a 32 caliber gun she owned had disappeared and police reported the suspect unable to give a coherent account of his movements.

PITTSBURGH, May 6.—Apparently motiveless "snipers' attacks" spread to Pittsburgh today with wounding of a 12-year-old school girl by a stray bullet.

Shirley Thomas, carrying her 9-month-old brother in her arms, was shot in the leg while walking on the street here.

Her condition was not serious.

BULLET ENDS LIFE OF COUNTY OFFICIAL

Body of Illinois Auditor Sought as Embezzler Found in Hotel.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 6.—The body of Fred Butke, 38, auditor of Kane county, Illinois, sought on a charge of embezzling $64,000 from county funds, belonging principally to the county poor farm, was found in a hotel last night, with a bullet in his head. Physicians said that apparently he had killed himself last Monday night.

One of his last acts was to establish an $83,000 trust fund with a Chicago Trust company. Kane county officials, however, moved immediately to tie up the fund with an injunction, and State's Attorney George D. Carbery said steps would be taken as soon as possible to recover the county's funds.

The body was discovered when a maid, upon falling to gain admission to clean up the room, called the hotel housekeeper and night clerk for assistance. It lay on a bed. There was a pillow over his head, apparently having been used by Butke to muffle the noise of the shot.

Police authorities all over the midwestern had been looking for Butke since last Monday, when he disappeared from his home in Aurora. He had been county auditor for 11 years, the only man to hold the office after it was created to establish an honest check on county officials.

End of Youngstown Wage Dispute Near

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 6.—Settlement of a dispute over wages which has tied up more than $2,000,000 worth of construction here since May 1, by a reduction of $1 a day for all building workers, was under consideration here today.

Contractors had demanded that the union wage scales be reduced $2 a day. A spokesman of the allied construction industries said that all employer associations were authorized to sign agreements on the $1 decrease basis. Business agents of several unions were said to favor the proposal and meetings of unions today were expected to accept it.

PROPOSED NEW AUTO FEE PLAN DROPPED

Ohio Tax Committee Abandons Suggested Levy on Weight Basis.

By United Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 6.—On account of the vigorous protests made by automobile interests against taxing autos by weight for license fees, the special joint tax committee has decided to abandon that method and return to horse power as a basis of computing license fees.

Five classes of horse power will be established, ranging from under 25 to 25 and over. License fees will be $7, $10, $15, $20 and $30.

Under the present system of license fees about $7,500,000 is produced, the new fees, it is said, will produce approximately $150,000,000.

Fees on trucks also will be increased, but that schedule has not yet been made out. It is anticipated that the increase will amount to about $5,000,000.

GIRL'S KIDNAPER SLAYS POLICEMAN

New York Force Mobilized in Hunt for Francis Crowley.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 6.—A slender young man stepped out of a car parked in a lane at North Merrick, L. I., early today and shot and killed Patrolman Frederick Hirsch as the policeman, who had demanded to see his license, exclaimed:

"You're Francis Crowley!"

He then leaped back into the car with a girl whom he had kidnapped from her escort an hour before and sped away as Hirsch's companion, a rookie cop, emptied his revolver after him.

Crowley was wanted in connection with the slaying of Virginia Brannan, a dance hall hostess.

The shooting of Patrolman Hirsch brought out a large detail of police, detectives and volunteers, and one of the first persons they rounded up was John McCall, who was hunting for a young woman, who, he said, had been kidnapped from him.

At the police station he identified Crowley from photographs, as the kidnaper. The girl is 17. Police withheld her name because they feared Crowley might kill her to avoid recognition.

MARION RUM CAR BURNS

Machine Loaded with Alcohol Abandoned in Sandusky as It Catches Fire.

A small coupe containing 40 gallons of alleged alcohol was abandoned near Sandusky by two men believed by authorities there to be liquor runners, when the car caught fire on the outskirts of the city, according to International News Service dispatches from Sandusky.

The license plates on the abandoned car were issued by Elmer E. Blazer, registrar at LaRue, to a Marion man, Blazer said today. Local authorities shortly after noon today had not heard from Sandusky authorities regarding the finding of the car.

The men, witnesses said, fled from the scene when the fire started. Firemen found the alleged alcohol when they examined the car after extinguishing the blaze. The damaged car and liquor was turned over to police.

GRAND JURY PROBES FATAL GUN BATTLE

Latest Outbreak Costs Four Lives; Sheriff Asks State Troops.

By The Associated Press

HARLAN, Ky., May 6.—A gun battle in which four men were slain and two wounded was the latest disorder in the Harlan county coal fields to be investigated by a special grand jury, summoned today to probe recent violence and sabotage blamed on labor troubles.

Sheriff J. H. Blair after the outbreak yesterday, asked Governor Flem D. Sampson to send state troops to the mining regions, but no word was received from the governor last night. Troops at the state arsenal at Frankfort, however, were being held in readiness should the governor issue a call, Adjutant General W. H. Jones said.

Deputy Sheriff and mine guards fired on a band of about 40 union sympathizers near Evans, and in the resulting battle James Daniels and Otto Lee, deputies; Howard Jones, a commissary clerk and Carl Richmond, one of the attacking party deputies, claimed opening fire from ambush, were killed. Sheppard Purcell and Estes Cox mine guards were wounded but expected to recover.

RENO REELECTS LIBERAL MAYOR FOR THIRD TERM

By The Associated Press

RENO, Nevada, May 6.—Mayor E. E. Roberts, liberal leader of Reno, and all his administrative officers except one councilman, were returned to office for four year terms at a municipal election yesterday.

The mayor, who is the father-in-law of Walter Johnson of baseball fame, decisively defeated two opponents, Howard S. Doyle and Milburn R. Gregory, taking a majority of the votes in five of the six wards. The election was non-partisan.

Complete unofficial returns gave Roberts 2,773, Doyle 2,958, Gregory 159.

It will be Roberts' third successive term as mayor of this Nevada city, nationally known for its quick divorces and open gambling resorts.

In his campaign, the mayor defended Nevada's divorce and gambling laws and attacked prohibition. He described the legalized gambling law as a means of "removing the mask of hypocrisy" from recognized conditions, by legalizing games which were being operated unlawfully.

Speaking from the pulpit of the Reno Methodist church at the invitation of the pastor, Mayor Roberts urged the placing of open barrels of "good corn whisky" on the city streets to free the community of bootleggers.

His platform was to "allow every man to do as he pleases so long as he does not interfere with his neighbor."

FIRST CIRCUS TO BE MAY 22

Robbins' Show To Exhibit Here After Jump from Sandusky.

Geese, fellers! A circus a real cowboy actor in a parade!

All three of those big events at one time is rather breathtaking, but the first circus announcement in town is bound to create a furore—there are too many grownups with kid complexes about circuses to thrill over the mention of the advent of the Big Top.

Robbins circus pulls into Marion Friday morning, May 22, with 25 cars hauling the big tent, the animal cages and wagons, the big gaudy parade wagons and all the other glitzy paraphernalia that breathes of the circus.

The feature that will make the kids open their eyes is Buck Owens, Hollywood cowboy actor. The circus advance man promises that Buck will entertain with some fancy riding and roping.

The circus will come here from Sandusky over the Pennsylvania railroad. The unloading grounds, the time of the parade and its route and the hours for the show will be announced later.

one of the most extensive depressions it has ever known. "We should not lose our sense of perspective. This crisis is not unprecedented. It is one of those transition stages that entail drastic and far-reaching economic readjustments. Those readjustments are taking place all over the world now."

"They will continue until a balance has been restored. Depression follows the war and its results, as the depression of 1873 was the result of the civil war. That has often been stated in this column."

MR. MELLON doesn't believe in any "quick or spectacular remedies" for the ills from which the world is suffering.

On the other hand, he doesn't believe there is "anything fundamentally wrong with the social system under which we have achieved a degree of well-being unprecedented in history."

The secretary evidently doesn't believe that we need to borrow ideas from Russia.

"Capitalism, or whatever name may be applied to it, has its defects, but it is still in its infancy. And it has produced an abundance of food and clothing and all the necessities of life."

"THE STANDARD of living must be maintained at all costs. "Problems must be solved by individual initiative, and not by surrendering the management of business and industry to government or any board or group. That seems to be a slap for the farm board."

There is nothing to be discouraged about, says the secretary. On the other hand he has "no means of knowing when or how we shall emerge from this valley in which we are now traveling."

But, he does know that things will come out all right.

AFTER READING Mr. Mellon's speech in full, turn your mind to President Hoover's recent statement that the world's expenditure for war "is now nearly five billions of dollars yearly—an increase nearly 70 per cent over that previous to the World war. Five million five hundred thousand men are actually under arms and 20,000,000 in reserve."

"It" Star Forced from Lead in Picture Second Time in Year.

By The Associated Press. HOLLYWOOD, Calif., May 6.—For the second time this year, illness has kept Clara Bow, screen flapper, out of the leading role in a motion picture production. "The red-headed Clara was confined to a Glendale, Cal., sanitarium today for treatment of a nervous breakdown. Meanwhile Peggy Shannon, also red-headed, who just a week ago arrived in Hollywood from the New York stage, was rehearsing the part Miss Bow was to have played in "The Secret Call."

The rumor, first voiced by Daisy De Boe, former secretary of Miss Bow, that "one more slam in the papers would finish Clara in pictures," was quashed by Paramount-Public officials as soon as it appeared at word of the substitution yesterday.

Daisy started the report several months ago while she was being tried on charges of stealing from Miss Bow. Before Miss De Boe's conviction, Miss Bow was taken ill and Sylvia Sydney, from Broadway, replaced her in a film. Miss Sydney now is a star in her own right.

Miss Bow's physicians laid her breakdown at the door of hard work and worry over the De Boe trial and the recent arrest of Fred Grinnau, tabloid publisher, on federal charges of sending obscene articles through the mails. The charges were based on stories in Grinnau's paper purporting to reveal incidents in the life of the actress.

Physicians said a long rest was imperative, but expressed no great alarm at Miss Bow's condition. Studio officials said emphatically Miss Bow's illness would not end her career as an actress. Miss Bow has two more pictures to make before another option on her services can be exercised, according to her contract.

WINTER RETURNS TO MIDWEST TERRITORY

Snow and Hail Storms Hit One Section; Another Has Heat Prostrations.

By United Press. CHICAGO, May 6.—Winter returned to scattered areas in the Midwest today, today causing damage to orchards, gardens and crops.

Temperatures throughout the territory began a slide downward late yesterday and still colder weather was forecast by C. A. Donald, weather bureau forecaster. While snow and hail storms touched sections of the Midwest yesterday a heat wave swept the Lake Michigan region, bringing temperatures that ranged from 70 to 80 degrees.

Frank Benzel, 29, the youngest first heat victim in Chicago, died today while spaling a garden. Policeman Thomas O. Malley collapsed while on duty.

A Kansas hail storm caused an estimated loss of 200,000 bushels of wheat. So severe was the storm that it virtually mowed down thousands of acres of grain. The large stones scattered windows and killed poultry.

Snow and hail storms threatened throughout Colorado.

because the picture in the community which it reflects is not good."

C. C. Fisher, Marion attorney, said one of the needs of Marion is the ability to work together. "We are all expected to work in this life, but why not work together for the benefit of everyone?"

George Kiersten, city clerk, said, "Anything which helps Marion helps everyone in Marion. Let's put our shoulders to the wheel and help the city in every way possible."

Preceding the speeches, Dr. Sawyer reiterated the aim of the movement to find out what Marion's situation is, and what can be done to better it. Through this movement, the committee hopes to discover the city's ills and prescribe for their cure, he said.

One of the three outstanding needs pointed out by Dr. Sawyer are a better understanding both within the city and without inside contacts, more cooperation and greater coordination.

No one is going to try to run Marion when this movement is over, he said. An analysis will be made, and a report will be given, but it is up to each individual to see that the treatment is taken and the prescription carried out.

At the exhibition of last night's meeting, 1,121 persons had attended group meetings at the sanitarium and 841 civic questionnaires had been answered. Questionnaires have been distributed at each group meeting calling for the individual or group opinion of Marionites regarding the city's welfare.

By The Associated Press. BALTIMORE, Md., May 6.—Baltimore returned its municipal affairs to Democratic hands yesterday, electing Howard W. Jackson mayor and his ticket, down to 17 out of a possible 18 councilmen, by the largest majorities ever given municipal candidates.

Jackson, mayor of the city from 1923 to 1927, defeated William G. Albrecht, Republican, 120,555 to 57,191 and May 19 will take for four years the reins of government from Mayor William F. Broening, Republican, who replaced him in 1927. Less than 50 per cent of the city's registered vote cast ballots. All of the Democratic candidates took commanding leads early in the evening and increased them as the returns were tabulated in the city's 672 precincts.

"Hunger Marchers" Find Traveling Is Difficult

By The Associated Press

Stifflegged and footsore, the northeastern division of Ohio's "hunger marchers" plodded from Ashland to Mansfield today, anticipating somewhat better fortune than has been their lot since they started out from Youngstown and Cleveland on May day. The more than 100 marchers, many of them with blistered feet despite their automotive equipment, slept last night in an open shed at the Ashland county fairgrounds, and were escorted through the city by police to see that they held no meetings and distributed no handbills.

The third "division," numbering 14 Toledoans, set out from Findlay, where they slept in the city auditorium last night. They also were prohibited from holding any demonstration and had to provide their own food. City officials had previously made it plain Findlay had its own needy to feed. The two groups are to meet in Marion on their way to Columbus.

Judge Seeks To Speed Kirkland Jury Selection

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 6.

Desirous of hurrying along the Virgil Kirkland murder trial, Judge Grant Crumpacker promised today a speedy end to the so-far fruitless quest for a jury. After the fourth venire of 85 names is exhausted, Judge Crumpacker announced he would send Sheriff Berney Maxwell into all parts of Porter county to ferret out a hand-picked venire of housewives and men not too busy for jury service.

If this is unavailing, Judge Crumpacker indicated he would then consider a defense motion, overruler yesterday, to impanel a jury from the adjoining counties of LaPorte, Jasper and Starke to try Kirkland on the charges of murdering Arlene Draves, the Gary high school girl he escorted to a liquor party.

NEW YORK SCHOOL SYSTEM ASSAILED

"Top-Heavy with Politics and Mediocrity," Governor Is Told.

By International News Service. NEW YORK, May 6.—The city affairs committee of the National Education Association today assailed Gov. Roosevelt that the New York board of education is "top-heavy with politics and mediocrity."

The committee wrote the governor recently for his "information." Two weeks ago the committee attacked Mayor Walker's private life in a statement issued by Alan Fox but the club disavowed the statement.

The report blames the condition of the school system on Mayor Walker, who has remained indifferent, although he holds power of removal of members of the board of education. The superintendent, William J. O'Shea, is described as a man of "mediocre intellectual equipment, educationally unprogressive, who has never contributed an important idea to educational progress."

"JUST AS GOOD AND CHEAPER"...
HAVE YOU EVER FOUND IT TRUE?

FOR almost every well-known product today there is an unknown imitation. No line of business anywhere is without such substitutes. Daily, they are foisted upon unsuspecting shoppers in place of known, advertised brands. The clerk may say these imitations are "just as good" as regularly advertised products. Or cheaper because they give "a little more" for the money. But is it ever true?

When a product is sold cheaper than one of recognized quality, you may be sure it is made cheaper. Then how can it be just as good?

Substitutes are business waifs. They have names, but their names mean nothing. Seldom, if ever, will the manufacturer admit their parentage by advertising.

The only kind words they ever receive are spoken to move them from the store—at more profit than dependable, recognized products return!

That is the only reason for substitution. The merchant who permits and encourages this practice is looking at today's sales slips. Not at tomorrow's loyal customers.

Advertising can not create character for any product. But it does place on trial character already established.

Think of this whenever you buy. The advertised product has a reputation at stake. It must always make good to hold your confidence.

But the substitute product—because it has gained no recognition—has nothing to lose. Honest value is the only inlet to the columns of this newspaper. When you buy brands advertised here—when you are guided by names you know—you are safe.

But when you let "over-the-counter" claims prevail against your own good judgment, you may be sorry.

THE ANSWER TO SUBSTITUTION IS ALWAYS

"NO"

NEW GAS RATE IS DISCUSSED

Council Fails To Take Action; Protest Feeding Marchers.

Special to The Star
MAY 6.—City council today discussed the ordinance proposed by the Ohio Fuel & Gas Co. The members were of two opinions and following the discussion of the meeting they adjourned. A committee with Mayor Corwin and Service Director K. H. Hartman as members, was authorized to advertise for bids for a boiler feed pump and accessories to cost not more than $1,000.

George Davies, city solicitor, was authorized to bring suit against the Ohio Fuel & Gas Co. for the amount due for water service and water furnished the city.

The ordinance was read for the first time last evening, accepting the ordinance of Erie railroad and continuing the ordinance of a part of the railroad street.

A motion was adopted for the transfer from the general fund to the water fund of $2,500, and also from the general fund to service fund of $4,000.

Mayor H. H. Hartman read a letter from the Olenyanga chapter of the Daughters of American Revolution protesting the permitting of the hunger marchers to hold any public meetings and prevent the passing of city ordinances to protest the furnishing of shelter and food. The mayor explained his position by stating the city had no position by staying lodging and food but that no interference would be made from them collecting money from individuals. However, they will be compelled to obey all city ordinances and rules.

FIVE FOUND SLAIN IN COUNTRY HOME

Mississippi Farmer Believed To Have Killed Four and Self.

By The Associated Press
BLUE MOUNTAIN, Miss., May 6.—Five persons were found slain in their home near here today. Authorities expressed the belief they were killed by A. W. Carter, a farmer, whose body was located a short distance from the others.

In addition to Carter's body that of his wife, their two daughters and a woman roomer in the home were found about the house.

The wife, Mrs. Nora Mattox Carter, 38, two children, Martha, 9, and Mary, 8, and Miss Anne Jeffries, 65, were beaten to death with a hammer. Carter's death was due to a shotgun wound.

Mrs. Carter's skull was crushed and her body badly beaten. The children apparently were killed with one blow of the hammer. Miss Jeffries' face was bruised.

The bodies were found by a party of neighbors who went to the Carter home when members of the family did not appear about the dwelling at the usual hour this morning.

Charles Howard, a farmer who led the searching party, told officers cries were heard during the night, apparently emanating from the Carter home.

CAMPAIGN COST LAW ADVOCATED BY NYE

Senator Favors Proposal To Restrict Expenditures On Vote Basis.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, May 6.—Legislation to limit campaign expenditures and to establish an agency to help enforce the law was advocated today by Chairman Nye of the senate campaign funds committee.

Senator Nye took favorably to these proposals which were advanced during the two days of hearings by the committee this week on means of reforming congressional elections.

Legislation to carry out the recommendations will be introduced by Senator Nye next session.

Nye favors the proposal to restrict expenditures on a vote basis—three or four cents for each vote cast in the congressional district in the preceding election.

Professor Pollock of the University of Michigan recommended this limitation. He would allow senatorial candidates two cents a vote and put national committees and other national organizations participating in campaigns under a similar curb.

Most witnesses who appeared before the committee believed congress has the right to extend federal control over primary elections—but this is a disputed point and the probability of legislation in this direction now is doubtful.

It was pointed out that in almost a majority of states, the winning of a primary contest is equivalent to election and the real campaign is conducted, therefore, in the primary.

WALTER RALLS FILES APPEAL

Third District Court Given 50-Page Brief in Error Pro-ceedings.

Special to The Star
BUCKYRUS, May 6.—Another legal step in the fight for the life of Walter Ralls, sentenced to die July 23 in the murder of Sheriff George Davenport Jan. 23 during an attempted arrest, was taken by Attorney Louis H. Kreiter, who represented the convicted man throughout his trial when a petition in error was filed in the court of appeals at Lima today.

Twenty-two reasons were cited in the petition, among which were error in the proceeding of the trial, error in overruling motions for a new trial and change of venue, error in the selection of a jury, that the verdict was not sustained by sufficient evidence and that the verdict was contrary to law.

A 50-page brief was filed with the petition.

Cleveland Retains Lead by Beating St. Louis 11 to 6

BOSTON OUTFIELDER DRIVES IN RUN THAT BEATS PHILLIES, 5-4

Yanks Hand Senators 18 to 8
Pasting: A's Defeat Red Sox, 4-1.

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Where Boston fans are asking today, has this Wesley Schumacher been for the last three weeks? They had their first glimpse of Wes just two days ago when he appeared in right field for the Braves and knocked in a run that helped beat the Phillies, 4 to 3. They saw him for the second time yesterday, when he hit a homer in the sixth and tripled in the ninth to drive in the score that lured the Phils again, 5 to 4.

The big outfielder, who hit .377 for Los Angeles last season, has been riding the bench ever since the Braves got home from the south.

Two Good Recruits
If Schumacher can maintain anything like the pace he set in his big league debut, the Braves can claim a pair of year's outstanding newcomers. The other is Robert "Red" Worthington, who has been hitting in cleanup position. He also put one out of the park yesterday, tying the score and paving the way for Schumacher's winning punch.

Buz Arlett hit his fourth homer of the year in the third, when the Phils scored all their runs off Tom Zachary.

The national league race tightened around the top as the Giants made it two straight from Brooklyn, 8 to 0, and the Cardinals were idle for the second time. Only a half-game separated them today.

Chicago's Cubs clung to third place by downing Cincinnati again, 5 to 4. They scored all their runs in the first three innings off Frev and Benton.

What a Beating
There was another rapid change of scenery in the American league as the Washington Senators took a one-sided trouncing from the Yankees and dropped from second place to fifth. The champions moved into third place.

In winning their first game since the Senators since early last September, 18 to 8, the Yanks pounded four pitchers for 19 hits, including homers by Gehrig and Reese. Babe Ruth cleared the bases with a double in the second.

George Earnshaw turned in his second brilliant performance in five days as the Athletics defeated the Red Sox, 4 to 1. He allowed only six hits, one of them a homer by Earl Webb, and struck out 10.

Cleveland held its two-game advantage over the field by outscoring the St. Louis Browns, 11 to 6.

GAME COLLEGIAN

Believed to be the only one-legged college baseball pitcher in the United States, Victor Kiske (above) of Brooklyn, N. Y., is showing great promise during his first year as a member of the Lafayette college university squad. Kiske lost his leg at the knee but despite a tremendous handicap has won several intercollegiate games and is expected to become a valuable member of future teams.

Erie Bats Too Much for Lee Street Presbyterians

Lee Street Presbyterians fell victims yesterday afternoon to the heavy bats of the Erie Roundhouse nine, losing to the railroads 8 to 2. Snyder, Erie first baseman, clouded one for the circuit.

The Roundhouse will meet the Central Christian Senators Thursday at Lincoln park. The Roundhouse will play the Erie Traffic club Friday. The diamond for the latter game has not been named.

Long distance hitting and Urban Faber's fine relief hurling featured the White Sox 7 to 3 victory over Detroit. Faber allowed only one hit and no runs after relieving Frasier in the fifth inning.

KAPPA, SERV-U-WEL NINES FAVORITES IN COMMERCIAL LOOP

These Two Clubs Likely To Wage Private Battle for Championship.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

ACCORDING to present indications the Marion recreation baseball commission is going to find it necessary to adopt some kind of softball legislation comparable to the Clayton anti-trust act in the business world. That is, such legislation is necessary if the commission does not want the business of gathering pennants in the City Commercial league to be completely monopolized by the Kappa Fraternity and Serv-U-Wel grocers' teams. These two clubs brushed aside all opposition last season to finish in one-two order with the Kappas on top. This season there are apparently no other teams strong enough to prevent the same two again staging private battle for the league championship.

There are only two entries in the league who have more than about one chance in a million (use some other figure if you'd rather) of finishing in first or second place. The Knights of Pythias may possibly be able to get by the two favorites although it is extremely doubtful, and the Prospect Firemen may be able to throw enough cold water on the Grocers and Kappas to put them out of the way. However, I have a decided hunch that when the season is completed about the best either of the two will have to show for their efforts will be a flock of dirty uniforms and some victories over teams other than the Grocers and Kappas.

Look Too Tough
The Kappas and Serv-U-Wel teams have just about everything necessary to move through the Commercial league with little difficulty. The Kappas have the better pitching but in other positions are no better fortified than the Serv-U-Wel nine. The Grocers can be counted on to play smarter ball than the Kappas and the Serv-U-

Unknown Quantities
The unknown quantities of the circuit are the Wesley Juniors and the Erie Railroad Traffic club. Neither has played in the Commercial league in former years. The Erie nine played last season in the Industrial league but the personnel of the team is so much different this season that only actual combat will determine its strength. The Wesley Juniors are not expected to cut a very large figure in the race.

The General Excavator club will more than likely provide about the same type opposition as usual, finishing around sixth or seventh place in the league.

Company B of the Ohio National Guard has a chance this season to climb out of the cellar although the team has been there so long there is a general feeling they like the position. The Infantrymen are hopeful of making a better showing than in former years. They should play this season on about a par with the Excavators.

Gasoline Prices Cut

Continued pressure against gasoline prices remains a heavy weight upon the industry generally. Gasoline prices were cut further in the west and the middle west, although the weekly petroleum statistics showed the largest reduction in gasoline stocks on hand in many weeks.

Money was easier, with call loans again available at 1 per cent out. Bankers' acceptance rates were cut 1-8 of one per cent, the third downward revision in a fortnight, again leading to talk of a lowered discount rate.

LACK OF SALES CAUSES SLUMP

Grains Average Lower Despite Reports of Moisture Need in Northwest.

By The Associated Press. CHICAGO, May 6.—Grains averaged lower early today owing to absence of any aggressive buying. Upturns failed to hold, notwithstanding reports from drought stricken northwest. Opening at 1-4 cent decline to 1-4¢ advance, wheat afterward underwent a general sag. Corn started 1-2 off to 1-8 up and subsequently held near to the initial range.

Wheat bears continued that selling pressure on wheat would increase as the time drew nearer for the domestic winter crop, and that supplies on hand were too large and winter wheat prospects too good to permit much leeway for bulls. Tending to increase bearish sentiment was announcement that no export business in North American wheat had been done overnight, and that a large offering of Russian wheat had caused stop-losses selling at Liverpool. Weakness of securities counted as a further decided unsettling influence.

Predictions of fair warm weather in Canada were indicative of drought continuance, but failed to dispel the effect of previous belief that abnormal dryness in spring wheat territory could be regarded as virtually at an end. Retention that a larger European demand for wheat during the next two or three months could be looked for aroused little response. Corn and oats were apparently held down by wheat weakness.

Provisions reflected upturns of hog values.

Royal Couple on Aerial Farm Bureau Credit Plan Trip After Betrothal To Be Put in Operation

By The Associated Press
BETHLEHEM, Pa., May 6.—Princess Ileana and Archduke Anton of Austria, principals of a romance of the air, are leaving for various places in Germany by airplane.

After the betrothal ceremony at Munich castle Monday night, they took off in the archduke's plane from Friedrichshafen, to visit the Graf Zeppelin. They plan other short trips in the next few days before Anton returns to Spain and Ileana goes to Venice with her mother, Queen Marie.

A mutual fascination for aviation is said to have been cupid's weapon in the case of Ileana and Anton. They met at Berlin and improved their acquaintance by daily flights about the countryside. A similar delight on both their parts for motorcycling and skiing cemented the attachment.

It is likely that the archduke will make an aviator of the princess.

In addition to being an accomplished skier and plane engineer, he is a keen instructor of flying and has already given "wings" to 25 persons.

Hundreds of messages of congratulations are pouring in here from commoner and aristocrat. The princess is highly regarded throughout Rumania. Details of their scheduled marriage for June have not yet been worked out but it is ex-

CARD OF THANKS.

I wish to publicly express my heartfelt appreciation and thanks to my friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown, and especially to all those who assisted me in any way during the recent illness and death of my dear husband Joseph S. Fox.

I especially thank Rev. Father Spickerman, Rev. Father Krieger, Rev. Father Karl A. Pinsel of North Auburn for their visits and ministrations both during his illness and later. Also Dr. C. J. I wish too, to thank the pallbearers, also for the beautiful floral offerings and spiritual bouquets sent by my many friends and M. H. Gander for his efficient service. I can never forget Joseph. I can never forget my generous friends in time of need. Mrs. Joseph S. Fox.

Casts of Harding Plays in Skits on School Life

Three casts coached by Miss Lucile Foreman in Harding High school plays met last night in the gymnasium of the school for a dinner and program. Students who take part in junior or senior plays directed by Miss Foreman automatically become members of the club presided as toastmaster. More than 100 members and faculty guests were present for the dinner served at attractively arranged small tables, and for the stunt program which followed.

The theme of the party was in poetry and the toast all carried out this idea. Miss Foreman gave a toast to the Marion Players. In original poetry, Jay Howser gave a toast from the casts of the Junior plays of this year and to the girls of the club, followed by a toast by Margaret Thomason from the junior plays of last year and to the boys of the club.

Robert Bush gave a toast from the senior cast of "The Swan." Miss Hazel Markwith of the faculty gave a toast, "My Swan Song." A toast of thanks was given Miss Esther Bishop and the girls of the domestic science department who served the dinner.

Impromptu toasts were given by Miss Mary Helphrey of the faculty, Haver Alsopch, Keith Maloney, Robert Bush, Carlos Hatcher, Haver Newby, Geraldine Everett, Roma Bader and Marian Isaly.

The tables were cleared and the stunts were given. Haver Newby, Haver Alsopch, Robert Bush and Keith Maloney sang two quartet numbers and led in singing "The Vagabond Song." The seniors dramatized "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," with a cast including Keith Maloney, Geraldine Everett, Bob Brashares, Mary Guthrie, Haver Newby, Helen Cross, Marjorie Long, Jewell Steinman, Robert Bush and Haver Alsopch. A skit, "The Barber of Seville," featured Bob Brashares.

The juniors of this year put on "The Trial of the High School Faculty" with Ben Jacobs, Charles Puffer, Neva Risch, Paul Hunt, Donald Lindsey, Roma Watt, Betty Mautz, Kathryn Schneider and Paul Webb.

Murray D. Lincoln of Columbus, Executive Secretary of Ohio Organization, To Explain Service at Meeting Here Late in Month.

Possibility of Marion county members of the Farm Bureau being availed of the services of the new credit corporation recently formed by the Farm Bureau was discussed at a regular meeting of the board of directors at headquarters here last night.

The credit corporation is in position to make farm loans, and is being operated in several sections of the state according to Fred Lusch, service manager here.

Lincoln To Be Here
Murray D. Lincoln of Columbus, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation will come to Marion late this month to discuss the loan service with Marion county farmers with a view to establishing a branch unit in this county. The need, according to the directors, is not for more loans to provide a source of credit more under the control of farmers themselves.

Inter-county baseball between Farm Bureau groups is scheduled for this year the directors reported. Marion and Crawford county teams are scheduled for a game at the next district meeting in Bucyrus June 4, and a return engagement is set for the annual picnic of the Marion county group on Aug. 20.

Directors discussed service charges of electric companies for rural extensions after reports that members of the Farm Bureau had been asked to pay excessive amounts for such extensions. Rural members negotiating for extensions were urged to take up the matter of charges with the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation which has handled similar cases in this county before.

Aid Appraisers
Township chairman reported the findings in an investigation of the appraised values of rural property as compared with the actual sale price of this property. The investigation is being made to aid appraisers in their reappraisal of all real estate this year.

Injects Health Note in Mother's Day Observance

Mayor Jones and Dr. Siffritt Aid in Nationwide Move To Reduce Death Rate of Mothers and Babies at Childbirth.

Consideration of motherhood with sufficiently good health to enable them to live to their fifth year. Practically all of these startling mortality figures could be eliminated if proper attention were given the mother during the prenatal period and at the time of childbirth, Dr. Siffritt said, outlining the reasons for the campaign.

Mayor Jones has issued a proclamation calling for the dispensing of proper information to mothers, to reduce the high death rates of both children and mothers at childbirth, and encouraging the health department in its efforts to reduce such deaths.

Dr. Siffritt and the city and Red Cross nursing service have requested every minister in Marion county to remind their congregations of the heavy toll of childbirth because of the lack of proper medical care, and to urge mothers to place themselves under a physician's care during the pre-natal period.

The Marion County Ministerial association has approved of the effort.

ports of health workers and has pledged its support in the health campaign for mothers and babies. "The only way that a woman can escape some of the hazards of motherhood is to consult a doctor skilled in maternity cases immediately after she receives her first message from the stork," Dr. Siffritt said.

Marion county statistics, representative of the general condition throughout the country, show that one out of each five babies born never lives to enter school. With 631 births recorded in the city last year, 63 were born dead, 91 died when under one year of age, and 26 died before reaching the fifth year.

These high mortality figures are due to either the lack of pre-natal care or malnutrition, both of which could be remedied by any competent physician, Dr. Siffritt said.

The proclamation follows: Following is the proclamation issued by Mayor Jones for Mother's day:

"Whereas, the second Sunday in May is nationally designated as Mother's Day and set apart for tribute to the loyalty and devotion of motherhood throughout the ages; and

"Whereas, the observance of Mother's Day heretofore has not taken any form of practical service to motherhood; and

"Whereas, it is known that in the United States the lives of thousands of mothers are yearly sacrificed needlessly, through lack of proper medical advice and guidance during the months previous to childbirth; and

"Whereas, we have in our city and should avail ourselves of them, such organizations and facilities as make possible the care necessary to the safeguarding of our motherhood;

"Therefore, I, your mayor, do urge that we, the citizens of this community, do everything in our power to encourage, develop and sustain these services and to make more generally known the need of opportunities for providing every expectant mother with adequate care from the very beginning until the baby is six weeks old; and I do appoint as my deputy the health commissioner of the city to furnish on request, information as to such available facilities, in order that we as a community may truly honor motherhood by cherishing and preserving the mothers among us to the very best of our combined ability

"To which I do hereby set my hand and seal."

ROME—The oldest pharmaceutical college is celebrating its 500th anniversary. The Noble Collegio Chimico Farmaceutico has occupied the same building almost since it was founded.

VIMMANSBYTTAN, Sweden.—The oldest blast furnace is at least 670 years old. In Archives has been found a will dated March 25, 1366, bequeathing an interest in the furnace.

LONDON—Firemen in the big town have discarded handsome shiny brass helmets. Too many firemen have been getting shocks by electric wires hitting the helmets. Less attractive but safer leather will be used.

BERNE, Switzerland.—Newspapers have been telling of a peasant of Seeland, in the canton of Berne, who never consulted a doctor till he was 81 years old. The doctor found the heart was on the right side and the liver on the left. Both organs functioned correctly.

ISTANBUL, Turkey.—Street vendors have been selling women's stockings for 74 cents a pair. There was a bit of outcry about Soviet dumping till it was found the stockings came from Germany.

PARIS—The Chemin Des Dames is to see planes, tanks and big guns again. Most signs of the havoc such things wrought a few years ago have disappeared. Fall army manoeuvres are to be held there.

Annual Event To Be Held Saturday for Students Meeting Requirements; Miss Esther Tress, Nutritionist, in Charge; To Give Program at Park.

More than 3,000 children, representing the first six grades of all the city schools, will take part in the health parade to be held Saturday afternoon. It was announced today by Miss Esther Tress, city school nutritionist.

The parade is an annual affair and is taken part in by children who either have required no medical or dental care during the year.

or those who have complied with the health rules of the schools and where such were needed, have had their tonsils removed, teeth taken care of, taken on weight or secured glasses.

The parade will start from the Forest Lawn school at 1 p. m. and will proceed to Garfield park where a short program will be held. A feature of the program will be the presenting of a silver cup to the school having the greatest number who have had their teeth given the proper care. Children from the Greenwood street building were the winners of the cup last year.

A feature of the parade this year will be the appearance of miniature floats prepared by the children and representing the various health rules.

The parade will be in charge of Miss Tress, Boy Scouts and members of the police department will be stationed at each street intersection over the line of march in order to prevent any possible accident to the children. Colored paper caps will be worn by the children as a means of identifying those from the various buildings. CHAPTER 15
A Ride With Jon

Nora did not want Nicholas' coldness. She did not want his silence. She did not want his step-sister, Damon, to be anything like her. "More than anything else in the world," she had told Hallie, there in the room where she had spent her first night.

Nora came over and stood before Hallie, who was looking down at her hands. She thought this cousin of hers was very pretty, but she found something in the face that interested her. It was a face that was like the lines, the laughter wrinkles about the eyes were like the map of a strange country.

"Your hands are beautiful," Nora said when she saw Hallie had observed her scrutiny.

"But useless," Hallie said sardonically. "Here I am day after day letting the others work to support me. Mother giving music lessons in all kinds of weather. Fran working all day in an office while I play watch dog at home. She sat frowning.

"But some day perhaps I will do something," she said with a kind of grim purpose.

When she was dressed Nora went downstairs. As she reached the last step, the door of the front parlor burst open, and the young doctor with his hat in his hand clutching a bag, with the barest nod to Nora, rushed out of his office.

"Someone must be dying!" Nora cried to Hallie.

"Don't worry. He's just showing the neighborhood how busy he is," Hallie explained, smiling. "He's not had a single patient — except Petie Baker, the dog who has hurt his leg—since he's been here. But twice a day he takes his bag and rushes around the block at break-neck speed.

Nora insisted on going down to get her breakfast alone, though Hallie offered to crawl down after her.

The basement floor contained the dining room and kitchen. Nothing more dreary than this kitchen could be imagined, with its small barred window that looked out on the back yard.

A gas stove stood against one wall. A table centered the kitchen and a glass-fronted cupboard held rows of blue plates and cups. The kitchen table was scrubbed to a satiny whiteness and even the little stove by the wall had a black, gleaming surface.

Nora sat munching toast and

"Heart of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Hank and Bill "Have It Bad"

THE four of us lounging—almost drowning—in the August moonlight flooding the farmhouse veranda, sat up abruptly as Bill's voice came through the curtains with its tense query to Marion as to why she had to go away just as he and Hank had come home.

"Why do you say that, Dicky?" Harry Underwood asked almost crossly, and I blessed the quick wit which made it appear we were in the midst of a discussion and had not heard Bill's plea.

"Because that's my opinion, any objection?" Dicky responded, beligerently, playing up. From inside the curtain we heard a smothered gasp and a quick patter of steps away from the window. When the sounds had died away, Dicky slipped his arm from behind my shoulders and, standing up, peered cautiously into the room.

Harry to the Rescue

"They're at the farther end and apparently continuing the discussion," he said, while Hank and Mary appeared to be engaged in some sort of fraternal squabble in the other corner. "Lil, don't say I haven't warned you about that gal of yours. There'll be a trail of young men with husky tremolos in their voices, inquiring 'Why?' from now on."

"Shut up!" Lillian said pettishly, and I leaned over and put a cautioning hand on Dicky's arm. I knew that Lillian was in one of her incomprehensible moods concerning any romantic thoughts directed at Marion. She had laughed at the coldest awkwardness of Hank and Bill in their attempts to secure Marion's dance, but even the hint of any serious emotion disturbed her.

"Bill's getting it early," Harry said, bridging the conversational gap.

"Too damned early," Dicky swung the other end of the bridge into place. "And Hank's showing signs."

"I wish I knew what to do with them," I sighed. "They'll be lonesome when the girls go away, and when they come back—"

"Ronald and the rest will be trailing along in their wake," Lillian struck in, patently ashamed of her outburst, but unable to keep her voice free from acerbity.

"Which will be the last straw for the poor young dromedaries," Dicky said thoughtfully. "If only there were some younger girls around—"

"They wouldn't look at them," I said, delving into my experience as a teacher of adolescent boys and girls.

"They're just at the age when girls older than themselves attract them."

"If you'll turn 'em over to me," Harry Underwood said, "I'll guarantee to make 'em forget girls exist for the next few days, at least. And then they'll be so insulated against romance that, while they may get wildly jealous of Ronald and the other boys, it won't do 'em any harm and will simply add to the gaiety of nations, or—rather—of ourselves as onlookers."

"Is it permitted to ask what particular inoculation you mean to give them?" Lillian asked.

"Oh, surely," he answered, with a chuckle. "The Chinese treatment."

Dicky whacked his knee heavily. "The very thing!" he said. "Spilling the mess of beans to 'em?"

"It wouldn't be fair otherwise," Harry replied. "And when they know—"

New "Bloodhounds"

He broke off abruptly, but his wife's voice calmly went on:

"That the objective of the treatment—Chinese invasion of the farmhouse and the other opera bouffe performance a little while ago is the lock box belonging to Marion, they'll be regular bloodhounds on the trail. Oh! yes, Harry, I've rounded to. I've had my little flurry for this evening and I'm quite sane."

Her words ended with a quiet little laugh, and I saw her husband's hand go out and cover hers. I heard also his sigh of relief and knew that he rejoiced with Dicky and me at the speedy exorcism of her queer sombre mood.

"You said three—or yet, four—mouthfuls or mouthful—take your choice," Dicky drawled. "Will they be terrifiers at the rat hole? Just watch 'em. When you going to spring it on 'em, old timer?"

"I'm a faithful follower of the lad who emitted the yelp about there being no time like the one before your face," Mr. Underwood said. "Whenever these fair dames decide to break up the party, you and I will haul the boys out of here in the moonlight and call 'em."

"These fair dames will go into action immediately," Lillian roared and put out her hand to me. "These girls have a full day tomorrow getting ready for their trip the next day and Midge and I have to get up early, too."

Jubilee's
Pardner

A Story of Boyhood
Adventure

—BY JUDD M. LEWIS—

It won't be long now. I told Jubilee about three more weeks and I won't have to go to school any more than a rabbit, and then we can have a lot of fun. It must be lonesome for a dog when a fella has to go to school every day. But when he hasn't got anything else a dog has got fleas, and Jubilee has plenty of them for all the family. My ant said she would like to live in a house sometime that isn't infested with fleas. I said I would like to live in one that isn't infested with an ant and an unkie, but I said it out in the barn after I had let Jubilee down and had milked the cows, so she didn't hear me. I wouldn't care, but my father probably would, and I wouldn't hurt his feelings for anything.

When we had been to school and got out we went out to where we had seen the man plowing, because we thought we would maybe get some fresh worms and go fishing. But he had got done plowing and had dragged the field so it was all smooth and soft, and he was planting corn. He had a thing with two long handles, and it had a thing on it he filled with corn. Then he would walk along looking at a stake at the end of the field and every step he would jab the thing down in the ground and when he would push the handles together it would open a little place under the ground and let a kernel of corn out, and when he would pull it up the dirt would fall in the hole and cover up the corn.

While we were watching him his wife called him to foam to somebody and we all went up to the house with him except the Lost Bag of Tripe, and when he came out he went to planting again and we went to the pasture, but we didn't find any snakes or anything interesting and Banty wouldn't go in and try the water, and when we were going home the man met us in the road and he had a stick, and the Lost Bag of Tripe stuck out as fast as he could leg it and the man after him, but the man didn't catch him; and he came back to where we were but his face was red and he was mad.

He said that while he was foaming someone had emptied the corn out of the planter and put a bunch of grass down in the bottom so no corn could fall out and had then put the corn back in. He said he had planted he didn't know how many rows without any corn coming out.

Feeble said she would go where the Lost Bag was and they started off and the man stopped and laughed and said on him, and fingers in his for a moment.

"Are you feeling rested?" he asked indifferently.

He stood out against the background of the shabby room, young and arrogant. His deep-set eyes, neither green nor gray, rested on her. She saw his strong nose and insolent lips, and she wondered what his arrogance might conceal.

Nora turned to say good-by to Hallie as she went down the steps beside Jon to his car. He seemed anxious to hurry her away not because he wanted to learn about Nicholas but in order to get the ordeal over.

He slid in the clutch of the low foreign car and drove down the street recklessly. There was a quality of daring in his driving that appealed to Nora.

"Driving too fast for you?" Jon asked.

"You couldn't drive too fast for me."

Jon turned to glance at her and looked quickly away. He said nothing more. At length Nora saw the blue gleam of the river and the river meadows yellow with wild mustard.

He was taking her to his home because it was a duty, a painful duty he did not trouble to hide. She felt that he did not like her not with passive indifference but with an active and violent feeling.

At last Jon turned into an old carriage drive that wound through poplar trees toward the house. Far back on lawns that seemed to flow like green waves it stood on a rise of ground. The house was of a pale brick, stained by rain and sun and wind to gray. Slender white pillars outlined the piazza. It was one of those old Dutch houses imbedded in its lands and fields and woods.

Jon said, as they climbed the stone steps, "You can see the river from here," as though she were a casual visitor who had come to see the view.

The trees except for the poplars beside the driveway had been cleared away from the house so that the grass dipped and rolled down a gentle slope toward the river.

The room to which Jon took her ran the full length of the house. The feeling that the house gave her of being grounded in tradition was centered here. The white wainscoting, the high ceilings and wide fireplace, the mellow old furniture covered in a design of birds and flowers gave the room an austere beauty. On the bookshelves and tables were bowls of white lilies.

She sat waiting for Damon, rigid with nervousness. This old house had made her feel like a tramp who had made her way in by mistake. She began to unwrap Nicholas' painting of the old peasant woman and when she looked up she saw Damon.

drinking warmed-over coffee at the kitchen table. She could hardly wait until the time Jon would come for her. She was eager to leave the little red brick house. Here own people could not give her security. They themselves were insecure; any day they might leave this dreary street and go to live somewhere else. She did not see that their interests were interlocked nor that their love was a stronghold against the world.

She heard the noon whistles blow and down the steps from the back yard two children came running. Alice came straight up to the kitchen table and observed Nora minutely.

"I like you," she pronounced after this scrutiny.

She was an exquisite creature. She seemed to rise out of her white dress like a flower. She had beautifully spaced gray eyes beneath fine black eyebrows. Her skin was fresh and delicate. Her fair hair shone about her face like the petals of a daffodil.

Four-year-old Dickie did not notice the newcomer. He was chasing a small brown dog around the kitchen. At last Dickie captured him and began to hug him lovingly while the dog bore it with an infinite wheezing patience.

"He loves Petie Baker," Alice said placidly, watching the dog roll out of Dickie's arms.

Hallie came hobbling down to get the children's lunch and Nora noticed how skillfully she managed to get about on her crippled feet.

When the children had left for school it was time to think about the afternoon. Nora, looking over her clothes, was struck with despair. The blue skirt was shrunken from the salt air, the beret had an old look and the scarlet blouse was a mass of wrinkles.

She dressed very carefully and went to find Hallie. Hallie looked up from her sewing.

"Look at me, I look awful!" Nora cried in despair.

Hallie hesitated and said nothing. "I can't go, that's all. Oh, Hallie, what shall I do?"

Hallie began to jerk open drawers.

"I have a pair of gloves—someone gave them to me and haven't worn them yet—here they are. And I think Fran has a new pair of silk stockings. Will this blouse fit you? Give me your skirt. I'll press it."

Nora began to dress again in Fran's white blouse with its round childish collar, to draw on Fran's silk stockings, and try on the gloves. Hallie came back with the skirt just as the bell rung.

"Oh Hallie, I'm not ready!"

She watched Hallie hobble from the room again, heard her cautious descent of the stairs. She was cold with nervousness; she could picture Jon and Hallie in the back parlor. Jon restless and impatient and Hallie observing him with her sardonic eyes.

When she was dressed she decided she had never looked worse. But she would show Jon Thayer that she thought nothing of his opinion. She might be poor, but she must never forget she was Julian Lake's daughter. But her heart beat thickly as she went toward the back parlor.

Jon was standing with an open book in his hands as Nora came in. He put it down and took her chilly
